Royal Brompton & Harefield NHS Foundation Trust runs a comprehensive service encompassing cardiomyopathy, channelopathy, genetics, aortopathy, familial hypercholesterolaemia and pulmonary hypertension. Our care extends from the womb, through childhood, adolescence and into adulthood. Patients can be seen separately or in one of our family clinics which cater for people with any of these conditions.

A multidisciplinary team of specialists is providing state-of-the-art care and screening to patients and their families. They work closely together in joint clinical meetings and are supported by a cutting-edge research programme.
